FREE TREE CARE WORKSHOP FOR ROXBOROUGH RESIDENTS

The Roxborough Water and Sanitation District is hosting a FREE tree care workshop on Saturday, March 28th, 2009 from 9:00am-10:00am at the Roxborough Library meeting room. Past president of the International Society of Arboriculture, Rocky Mountain Chapter, certified arborist, forester, and land development consultant Keith Worley has worked with homeowners for nearly thirty years to help protect trees along the Front Range. Residents have an extraordinary one-on-one opportunity to learn the “Top 10 Mistakes Homeowners Make with Their Trees.” Says Mr. Worley, “I’ve seen too many people lose a tree by improper pruning or due to many other avoidable mistakes.” He added, “In one hour, I can help residents better understand what to do with their trees so they grow well for decades.” Shade-bearing trees are a valuable investment for a home’s summer energy savings, and all trees produce oxygen for the environment. Mr. Worley’s expertise in tree care, maintenance, planting, pruning, water-efficient irrigation, and disease control is among the best in the country. Residents will have an opportunity to ask specific questions in the hour-filled workshop. Seating is limited to the first 40 adults. RSVP: 303.979-7286.
